"Certainly. I know the Kiraliys well, and they will be glad to see us."

Thus spoke Dr. Gray—a brilliant young homeopath of New York, who finds time to the intervals of a big practice to see all that is interesting and curious in this great city—to your correspondent, who it need not be said embraced the proposition eagerly.

I have long been anxious to see the make-up of a spectacular. I had seen the "Black Venus" from the pit, and had wondered at its marvellous effects. I was only too glad, therefore, even at the risk of dislilusion, of a chance to see just how these effects were produced.

So wellow, and as straight as an arrow as a willow, and as a willow, a the risk of disliusion, of a chance to see just how these effects were produced.

The Kiraliys, Imre and Balossy, are the most famous "spectaculat" managers in the world. They are young Hungarians, and have had eventual careers. They first appeared in this country as eccentric dancers, traveling with Fox's Humpty Dumpty troupe and in a company of their own. They made a semastion and commanded large salaries. But they drifted not the production of spectacular plays, and being daring, ingenious and aktiful, amassed forms by audacious ballets and gorgeous scenery. Jons and pages of the great actresses."

Ing daring, ingenious and skiliful, amassed fortunes by sudacious ballets and gorgeous scenery. They built the Alhambra at Philadelphia for the centennial and sunk $175 000 in that enterprise. This ruined them, but they found a friend in the person of Joe Faxon a solar printer who had a passion for stage effects and a level head for business. Faxon staked the Kiralfys and they went at it again, producing the "Black Crook," "Enchantment," "Black Venus," and other noted spectaculars. They have become rich again, and are large investers in New York real estate.

The "Black Venus" is a spectacular, the scenes of which are in Africa along the Nile, in jungles, desert, and the Blue mountains. A ship burns on the stage, a volcano crupts, a sand storm growls to the further end of the cage. He ad-uator David Davis's Reasons for Standing Inde-pendent-Signs of Discord Among the Re-publican Brethren-Colonel Thorn-ton's Social Eminence. Washington, March 12.—Senator David avis, in declining the chairmanship of the judiciary committee, recited the facts connected with his election in 1877 by the Illinois legislature, and said: No man ever entered congress, freer from political committal or personal obligation than I did four years ago. I had been identified with the republican party, and still look back with pride to its grand achievements. The excesses incident to the civil strife drove ens of thousands into the liberal movement of 1872. I found myself in company with Charles Sumner, Horace Greeley, Charles F. Adams, Carl Schurz, Mura Halstead, Stanley Matthews, R E Fenton John Wentworth, Samuel Bowles, Lyman Trumbull, Whitelaw Reid, Leonard Swett, conspicuous republicans. Some of them had separated, doubtless prompted by pa triotic motives. In giving this vote, it is proper for me to say that whatever may be the result, I can accept no sonor at the hands of either side. The country needs rest from sectional strife. The voice of patriotism demands peace and fraternal fellowship, north and south, east and west. Every good citizen should desire the success of the administration, for we all ought to have a common interest in the glory and greatness of the republic Measures intended to advance either shall nave my cordial support. Ex-Secretary Schurz is going to settle in St. Louis, and devote much of his time to his newspaper interests there. Ex-Postmaster-General Maynard is going back to Tennessee, where he has some property. He will look into politics down there. Ex-Secretary Ramsey will return to his home in Minnesota, where he has much property. He intends to look after his own business and give politics a wide berth. Ex-President Hayes who has gone back to Fremont, Ohio, ntends to look after his own business and dive politics a wide berth. Ex President Hayes who has gone back to Fremont, Ohio, mends to live there quietly. Ex Vice-President Wheeler, who has gone to Florida for some weeks, will, after his return, pay a long visit to Europe.

There is a deal of talk about republican There is a deal of talk about republican harmony—that the administration is getting a good start, with "amens" from all the factions. This may be true, but if it is, there are a few suggestions to be offered which will not make it appear so. The conduct of Vice President Arthur is, is so say the least, inexplicable. He keeps away from the white house, makes no recommen dations for office, and is completely under Conkling's thumb. Toward the retiring president his conduct was simply outrageous. He was invited to dine at the white house, and excused himself on account of a previous engagement. The etiquette which prevails here is that no inviation to dice with the president is to be declined, no matter what embarrassments it may create. On the day the new president was inaugurated Arthur was invited to lunch. He did go to the white house, and with the president reviewed the troops; but he managed to slip away before lunch was announced.

Among the callers at the white house to-day were Senators Mahone, McMillan, 'Allison, Sawyer, Logan, Dawes, Couger, Burnside, Anthony, Van Wyck, Saunders, Sewil; Representat ve8 Speer, Mon y, McOold, Farwell, Sapp, Hepburo, Updegraff, Smith (N. Y.), McCook, Aldrich, R. beso; General Kilpatrick, A. X. Parker, William W. Rockwell, William Blair Lord, W. A. Sackett, A. D. F. Keenbury, William H. Koontz, J. C. Ogle, Auditor French, E. C. Hubbard, Kentucky; A. I. Boreman, West Virginia, M. E. Thernton, Georgia; J. J. Stewart, Baltimore; J. Q. Smith, John A. Vickery and wife, Illinois; Charles W. Clarke, E. W. Bagley, Kentucky; Colonel Bob Ingersoll, Postmaster General James, Ex-Secretaries Evarts and Thompson.

An incident recently occurred here which has put a senator from one of the New England states in rather an embarrassing position. This senator is noted for his cold manners and for the small amount of attention which he gives to his constituents when they come here. The governor and a number of other state officers of the senator's state came here last week to be present at the inauguration of President Garfield. They naturally expected some little attention from their senator, but received none. He did not even call upon them at their hotel. On Saturday it was arranged by the other senator that the party should go, with both senators and the state's delegation in the house, to call on Mr. Garfield at 18 o'clock a. m. The party dressed themselves and waited until eleven o'clock for the senator, who did not come. Then they were very much disgusted and retired to their hotel, where they Primed until the hour for taking the lardy senator arrived and sent up, his card to the governor who, although a very mid person generally, sent down word that ne would not ree the senator. The affair has made a good deal of talk in level ones.

New York, March 12.—This afternoon, just after the steamship Montreal, of the Inman line, had put out from Pier 37, and was about ten yards out in the stream, two men were seen making their way hastily through bales and boxes, and dodging handcarts and cabs. A moment later they reached the end of their pier, plunged into the river and struck out for the ship. A rope was thrown to them from the stern of the steamer. One of the men caught it and hauled himself aboard. The other managed to get hold of the rope, but the rapid motion of the boat, and the eddies made by the propeller, drew him under water. For a time it seemed as though he would be drowned, but just at the critical moment was saint from the strain, and heid him above water until the steamer was stopped and he was taken aboard. It was supposed that the belated men were firemen' belonging to the steamer.

eleven o'clock. The alarm was occasioned by the burning of Captain C. W. Powell's residence, No. 9 Garnettstreet, and the result was an almost total destruction of the house. When the blaze was discovered the occupants were in bed asleep, and no little difficulty was experienced in arousing them. The greater portion of the furniture was removed from the building, but was removed from the rough hand ling to which it was subjected After some delay water was given the companies, and though the entire roof of the building was then a solid sheet of fire, the flames were subdued before the house was entirely destroyed. The roof and second story were burned away and the sides of the building much injured. The origin of the fire is not known though it is supposed to have begun in a room in which the iro-ding was done yesterday. The house was valued at $3,500 and is partly insured.

An Effect of the Usury Law. When the interest law now in opera-

We endeavored to show that real usury was an evil wholly beyond egislative jurisdiction-out of reach of my statute that could be devised by the solons who assemble in Atlanta. We endeavored, by illustration, as well as argument, to show that the usury which train bearing down upon a crossing. eeps the people poor is a part and parcel of the credit system, and not a part of the system of money loans. We redicted, moreover, that if the measure which proposed to restrict the price of money to eight per centum had any effect as a law, that effect would be to embarrass he very class in whose interest it had readers that in various portions of middle and southwest Georgia the farmers and

We propose simply to invite them to oin us in a rational inquiry as to the cause of the depression that exists in various portions of the state. In the first place, who are the victims of this financial depression? All the testimony is to the effect that only those are embarrassed whose circumstances and condition make them dependent upon loans or credits. The depression, therefore, is not general. There is no tightness in the money market. There is no scarcity of unds. On the contrary, everything and money market. There is no scarcity of unds. On the contrary, everything and everybody save the small farmers in certain sections of the state seem to be on the high tide of prosperity. When we say small farmers we intend to include all who, by the nature of their business or the circumstances of their calling, are compelled to seek what are called accommodations. This class is now seriously embarrassed, while all around are springing up evidences of the substantial prosperity of the settlement, while she retains the two towns of military value. Turkey does not seem to greatly care how much of Thessaly or even of Macedonia Greece gains, but she has heretofore stubbornly refused to surrender the cities of Metzova and Janina. These two towns are the key to Albania, and to have surrendered them would have been equivalent to a surrender of all the territory included in the Albanian confederacy.

But now comes news that the Albanian effect of the statute is to cripple included in the Albanian confederacy. But now comes news that the Albanian league have quarreled with the porte, that their demand for home rule has been scornfully rejected, and that they are preparing to fight for independence. This does not mean that they dence. This does not mean that they are preparing to fight for independence. This does not mean that they dence is a farmer or a mechanic, the statute is to cripple the statute is to cripple the credit of those whose necessities are greatest. Among but iness the sites are greatest. Among but iness garoo, elephant turtle, crocodile, birds of the ostrich group, the penguin, etc., are all threatened with extinction. The reflection and fifteen per cent, and this without risk, but when it comes tolending money to a farmer or a mechanic, the statute are ready to become the ally of Greece; to a farmer or a mechanic, the statute or to hand over the two cities to Greece; makes itself impressive, and the element of risk becomes important. The farmer out it may lead the porte to lay less value upon their possession. If Albania is may be willing to pay fifteen per cent, about to slip through the sultan's lax but it is less risk to the lender to employ ingers, he does not want Metzovo his money in the thousand and one chanor Janina. Then again, besides Russia, nels of commerce, in which there is no new danger at the south has been discove angers and the drawbacks of what he calls the over-education of the colored children. General Cameron is, of course, too good an American not to believe most heartily in popular education. He mentions the thrist for knowledge among the late slave race, and their aptness in learning, as one of the most hopeful indication at the south. But he thinks that the forcing mental process which, at the north, drives young men out of industrial pursuits into the overcrowded commercial and professional ranks, will have even a worse effect at the south. In brief, he holds that over-schooling will unfit the blacks for laborers. The figure of the colored youth, upon whose high school training his old father had expended the bulk of his hard earnings, coming home and going afield in fine attire, with an umbrella over his head, to induige in "eddicated taik," while the old folks and his sketer picked the cotton, is presented as a sign of

S. Chamberlain, the well-known grocer, corner Water and Foundry street, was interviewed and to a series of questions he said: "For a long time I have suffered everything from a painful and aggravated kidney trouble. I have taken almost everything, but all to no purpose. I had no appetite and could not sleep and had to have assistance to get up. I could not attend to my business and thought I should never be any better. I was recommended to try Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, which I did. I had taken only a part of a bottle when I began to improve. The effect was marvelous. I regain idences have been painted up anew with cross the country from Hartwell to Elber only a part of a bottle when I began to improve. THE ROLLING HOME

"Beyond a question she is. Especially is it so with Georgia Why with us and in fact all over the north and west Georgia is looked upon as the progressive state of the south. To us she seems to hold out an inviting hand, and when we come we find a welcome assordial, as genuine as could be desired. To day Georgia occupies a position as prominent as any state in the union, and she is entitled to it. Has she not shown an enterprise worthy of reco. nition, and who passes anything of merity, without exam of Georgia She has every capability necess, and the sary. Her soil, her climate and her people are inviting. She is wanting in nothing, and will advance as long as there is room for advancement."

The Importance of Being a Railroad King-The People Along the Line-Some Riminiscences of the Olden Era-Sketches of Hart-well, Athens and Lexington.

Proctor is of the opinion that the comet of 1880 will destroy the world in July next. But we fancy our people give themselves a leal of unnecessary concern about the fate f the world and not half enough about help own imprisoners to disconnect. I believe I would rather be a railro king than any other sort of a king. They lon't swell nor strut, for there is so muc of the world and not half enough about heir own imminence to discomfort and un-imely death. The wise man is he who proceeth the evil and guards himself ughtful and civil, but they carry a kind moral grandeur and dignity about em forseeth the evil and guards himself against it.

During the past week articles have been published in The Constitution showing what a fearful mortality has been recorded through the various forms of kidney and liver diseases; extracts have been given showing how of late a new and wonderfully simple remedy has won remarkable success in curing hitherte supposed incurable diseases, and to-day The Constitution, impressed with these things, makes room for a reporter's researches into the results wrought in Atlanta and vicinity by Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. The record is a proud one, and it is one the names in which are familiar to all. Read the RESULTS OF REFORTERIAL RESEARCH.

S. Chamberlain, the well-known grocer, that I like. I saw Colonel Foreacre the Elberton branch, and everybody seemed to ise up to do him honor and he dident seem t now it, but talked to the common people and the farmers just like he thought as such of them as they did of him. The eople along the Eiberton road feel very rateful to him, for they say it was his en ergy and foresight that has opened up their hat has more than doubled the value of beir lands within the last two years Thriving little towns are springing up all about and the products of their farms have argely increased. The hearts of the people are in a sort of a boom and everythin ooks prosperous. Three large wareho have just been completed at Hartwell everal new stores have been built, private esidences have been painted up anew with new fences and new flower gardens in front good new hotel shelters and comforts th weary and careworn drummer. I rode ross the country from Hartwell to Elber on, and from Elberton to Lexington, and was surprised to see cotton all along the road under the gin-houses and sheds, and it proved to me that the farmers in a good fix and had debts. About ten thousand bales had been sold in Hartwell, and the little Nancy Hart was kept busy running up and down grades of 170 feet, making four trips a day in which are familiar to all. Read the RESULTS OF REFORTERIAL RESEARCH.

S. Chamberlain, the well-known grocer, corner Water and Foundry street, was interviewed and to a series of questions he said:
"For a long time I have suffered everything from a painful and aggravated kidney trouble. I have taken almost everything, but all to no purpose. I had no appetite and could not sleep and had to have assistance to get up. I could not attend to my business and thought I should never be any better. I was recommended to try Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, which I did. I had taken only a part of a bottle when I began to improve. The effect was marvelous, I regained my appetite, and after using the remedy liberally am better than I have been in years I have always been opposed to patent medicines, but whatever other proprietary medicines may be, I have implicit faith in Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, as I know it will do all that is claimed for it." Captain Chamberlain is inexpressibly happy over his escape from the thralldom of a dreadful disease, and well he may be.

Hearing that Judge F. M. Brooks, of Columbus, had been using Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, the reporter visited Columbus and found him at his chambers in the court-house. Introducing himself as one of the newspaper fraternity, who had line with no tender behind, for the er gire and tender are all in one. I wish Old Aunt Nancy could rise from the dead and come to see him in regard to his reporter recovery-from a very dangerous and painfu disease, he was received most cordially and the judge stating that he did not objec to being interviewed, he was asked to give retrouver of his case. e her little namesake thrash around rtwell has a flourishing school, 160 schol ars, in charge of Professor Looney. He is hool gives more character to the little town versal disposition to educate their children as our people are manifesting all over the state At Elberton they have two first-class high schools, and they are well officered and well patronized. This old town has taken a new nd I know I am as well as most men of m and I show an as well as most men of my age, but I have not been so until recently. Up to within a few months and for a great many years. I have been a great sufferer with kidney disease, and within the last two years it seems to have extended to the liver and urinary organs. Why, sir, I have been so sick that I have many times been sould be the second of the seco patronized. This old own has taken a new lease upon life, and is stretching out and filling up its old suburbs with handsome residences. I lectured here to a crowded house, and as half the proceeds were to go to a public charity their good people determined there should be no dead heads. They made everybody pay, even to editors and preachers, and they made the doorkeeper pay and the

that I have passed through Those suffering from kidney disease know all about it, and know how painful and almost loathsome many of its features are.

"I become so disgusted and discouraged with medicine that I made up my mind that I would never take any more.

"Well sir, about a year ago my wife (bless her) read of some remarkable cures that had been made by the Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, made by H. H. Warner & Co. of Rochester. New York Now she says: "Judge, I want you to get some of that medicine." I told her it was nonsense I did not take it or anything else, but she was so persistent that I did get a bottle, and took ta according to direction, but it did me no good, and I told my wife that it did not amount to anything But she, woman like, misisted on my getting another bottle and I dideo. Well, I soon begau to feel better, and I began to think that there was MANY DISAGREEABLE THINGS

SOMETHING IN IT pesides advertising. I continued its use and improved daily. I took six bottles of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, and am to day perfectly well and vigorous it has done what all the doctors and their medicine could not do, and I only regret oks—nobody ever owed him anything d he owes nothing to anybody. His sub-ribers all pay in advance, and when the and, I believe, the best ever known. It seems to have given me new life, and although I have been entirely cured, I take

"Judge," said the reporter, "have you an fifficulty and all the organs connected with the kidneys and liver. I wish ever none could know of it and could be induced to use it. And I am only too glad to have hotels, and the water, and mountain air, and wine and segars throwed in. He was as signed to a third-class tavern, and stuck his name down on the register as well as he could, and a big, strapping army officer put down ten more names right under his, and rwn a whirligig with hispen all around them, and Gantt's too, and after while Gantt modestly asked the landlord for a room, and the landlord asked him his name, and when he pointed it out on the register the landlord lectured to let the people know through the medium of the press that there has at least been discovered a medicine that will cure kidney disease. I have already given H. H. Warner & Jo. a testimonial, and they are at liberty to publish it far and near, for I know that I am indebted to the Safe Kidney and Liver Cure for my life."

The man of newsleft the judge in a happy frame of mind, and next called on Dr. J. N. Gilbert, an old practitioner and druggist of Columbus, and asked him if he knew anything about the recovery of Judge Brooks. "Why, yes; he had Bright's disease and had been treated by all the physicians, but they never did him any good I said to him, 'Now look here, Judge, you have had done for you

ALL THAT CAN BE DONE OPPORTUNITY isked him his name, and when he pointed to ut on the register the landlord lectured him on moral depravity, and told him he would room with his guard, and that was all he could get out of him. He found out that the ten men were prisoners for making moonshine whisky, and the landlord was about to collar him and carry him to their room, but his friends rescued him just in time. Gant came away without settling his bill, and the bill followed him to Lex motion with various remarks, calculated room, but his friends rescued him just in time. Gantt came away without settling his bill, and the bill followed him to Lex ongton with various remarks calculated to provoke a wordly minded man and Gantt saystkere is more bunkum and less freedon about Gainesville than any town he ever vi-ited—that they give the largest welcome and the most limited hospitality, and if it haden't been for a few friends he would have been sent off to Atlanta as a moonshiner. I want a committee appointed at Rome to take charge of Gantt and protect aim during the press convention.

But of all the beautiful and hailowed places in Georgia, I can't help loving Athens the best. Maybe it is because it was my adopted home in the heyday of my youth, when everything had a rosy look and life was gushing and the present was happy and the future hopeful, and the sweet girls smiled upon me as they assed us in our evening walks, and I thought angels were singing as I listened to them in the old church choirs of a Sabbath morning. Judge Dougherty lived there then and the two Cobes and Lumpsins and Hillyer and the Hulls and Baxters and Dr Church and McCoy and LeConte and many more noble men and I revere ced them all. They don't live there now. What splendid lawyers we used to have in that circuit. Besides those I have named there was Overby and Jackson and Hutchins and Peeples. Wonderful man was Peeples—the most welcome man that ever came into a social circle. I have known men to come into a jovial crowd and their very presence seemed to dry it up and wither it. But Feeples always brought sunshine and a feast. I wish somebody would write about thim, as old father Sparks is writing about the friends of his youth, for, "take him all in all, we ne'er shall look upon his like again." ALL THAT CAN BE DONE by the doctors. Now you try Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. Mr. Warner, and I know that he would Mr. Warner, and I know that he would not have anything to do with a thing that did not have merit.' Well, the judge took six bottles and it has cured him. It beats all the medicine for kidney and liver disease I ever heard of. I recommend it with the greatest freedom, believing that it will do all that it claims to do. At all events it has cured a genuine case of Bright's disease here in Columbus and that is enough for me. It is the talk of the town."

The reporter conversed with a number of The reporter conversed with a number of the judge's friends in Columbus, and he has thousands of them, and those who were has thousands of them, and those who were aware of his happy release, declared that "that Safe Cure is the most wonderful medicine they ever heard of."

In pursuing investigation in Atlanta, our reporter called upon Major J. C. Whitner, the well-known and universally popular insurance manager, of whose singularly wonderfully cure he had heard from a dezen different people. Unfortunately the major was out of town, but from his gentlemanly son, Mr. J. A. Whitner, a very clear and interesting statement of his father's case was secure i. He said that DURING THE WAR the major was prostrated in Rich-the major was prostrated in Richmond for a long time with an acute attack of kidney disease. His physician, who was a very dear friend, exhausted every expedient known to materia medica at the time, tried both by personal interest and professional pride; but the most he could do was to keep him from the grave. His naturally strong constitution rallied somewhat, and he was able to return home, but his kidneys were never restored to their normal action. "Why, ever since I can remember I have heard father complain of the trouble his kidneys caused him! The attacks would not be long, but they were frequent, and he suffered most him all in ail, we neer shall look upon his like sgain."

The Lucy Cobb institute still lives and flourishes—the pride of Athens and an ornament to the state. It was christened in tears, baptized in blood, and long may it stand as a memorial of the love of a faither for his child and the love of your people for a patriot.

—Dickens used to tell inimitably a story about Carlyle, the scene occurring at a dinagonies. I do not think he ever felt himself out of the reach of the disease. A little while ago he learned of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, and what it had done for persons sfilicted as he was, and the first I knew he was taking it regularly and from that day to this he has been a new man. He has no more Calculi in the bladder to render his life a burden, no more backache, depression of spirit; he is as lively and chipper as I am.
